the result of his observations on the journey from Hankow to Yunnan, and just printed, mediately on the ship's arrival in the harbour, is a rather elaborate document, and contains the captum sent to the Water Police to take a great deal of highly important information on the trading capabilities of the country (not mutiny, as has been stated). They are traversed by the Yunnan Mission. The re- now (ten in number) under the care of Inspector port is moreover well written and will be read with interest even by those not immediately concerned in the tradal capacities of the interior of China, as it abounds with fresh be pluyed at Dreeden towards the close of the information. The least interesting portion of the document to foreign residents in China necessarily the opening portion, which refers to places which have been previously visited sported on by the agents of the Shanghai-Chamber of Commerce. What Mr. DAVEN-Time Comprehensive Work, now in the PORT says about Shashih and Ichang is confirmatory of previous reports. The former, though a straggling, dirty, unwalled town, is Sources, and no pains have been spared to he states, a most important mart, whither large numbers of junks resort, and is well situated for the carrying on of trade, as it is the port of King-show-fu, a large prefeatural city. But while there is no doubt that Shashih. is an emporium of commerce, its situation in of the river, in a somi-tropical country, would to inform you that the memorial will be transcertainly, as Mr. Davenfort remarks, render itan unhealthy place of residence for Europeans. In this respect Ichang possesses great advantages over Shashih, and they have, secured for it the honour of selection as one of the new Granville Sharp, Esq. treaty ports, though as a commercial mart it is vastly inferior to Shashih. Mr. DAVENPORT is plainly of opinion that by making Shashih a port of call and Ichang the treaty port nothing can be lost. There appears to be little trade going on at the picturesque city of Kweichow-fu, the inhabitants of which are obliged to submit to inspection at the Custom house there. From Kweichow-fn to Chungking the country is highly cultivated, every available inch of soil being utilised, Chungking Mr. DAVENPORT Edys that quite came up to the descriptions given of it as the emporium of Western China, but he adds that he was somewhat surprised to hear that awing to the own taxation a large number of the best houses were untenanted, from the failure of the. hongs which had occupied them. "while at least half of the junks (which extended for for the Colonies, and I am to inform you in reply miles along the faces of Chungking and Limin, both in the Yangtsze and the river Ho) were laid up for want of employment." Making allowance for some exaggeration in the native statement, the fact that trade has fallen off remains nevertheless, as the city authorities confirmed that portion of it to Mr DAVENPORT, though they attributed it, as they naturally would, to different causes. The tendency of the officials al over the Central Kingdom is apparently the same. In their eagerness to get at the golden eggs, they frequently kill the goose, The larger Directory contains the different and will not take warning from experience. Treaties and Conventions made by China and By this means many once prosperous cities have Japan with foreign countries, together with been reduced to stagnant and decaying little various Acts, Ordinances, and Regulations re- towns, the trade they formerly possessed having been driven away by the intelerable oppression of the mandarins. In the course of his progress Mr. DAVENPORT took notes with regard to the crops, and some of his remarks on these are worthy of careful attention. He noticed that large quantities of cotton were grown in the province of Hupeb, a considerable portion of which he ascertained is consumed by the villagers themselves, by whom it is woven into a coarse cloth Nikopoli. like that almost quiversally worn by the people of China. The natives assert that it is not only more durable, but also for warmer than foreign shirtings, and Mr. DAVENPORT The Chronicle and Directory is the only hereupon records his fear "that the idea of clothing the imaginary teeming milof China in foreign long-cloths is a mere delusion, their consumption being limited to the well-to-do class." this assumption has, probably, yet to be on the Praya Central. proved. THE TRADE OF LABUAN. In his explanatory remarks on the Blue-book Mee to travelling trader. of Lubuan for 1875; which has now been issued the Acting-Governor states that the total imports into the Colony during the year were valued at £119,362; of these there came from Singapore £67,105, and from the coast of Borneo £52,257. The exports were in all £114,532, of which £63,229 went to Singapore, and the remainder to Borneo. The increase in the value of the imports in the year was £29,385, and that of the exports £15,228. The improvement in the trade is considered to be due to some extent to the liberal policy of Sir Henry Bulwer; in relieving commerce from some obstructions which had been injurious to it, and partly also to the introduction of a plantiful supply of copper coinage, which is replacing on the coast of Borneo the cumbrous forms of metallic currency formerly in use. The trade of the Colony and of Bruni was chiefly carried on by a steam-vessel, the establishment of which: is due to the persistent efforts of the late Governor. It has turned out a profitable ape-

Extracts. BALLAD OF THE FRENCH FLEET.

Octones, 1746 (Mr. Thomas Prince loquitur.) A fleet with flags arrayed Sailed from the port of Brest,

And the Admirat's ship displayed The signal: "Steer southwest." For this Admiral D Anville Had sworn by cross and grown To rayage with fire and steel ... Our horeless Boston Town.

There were rundure in the street. In the houses there was fear Of the coming of the fleet, And the dauger bovering near And while from nouth to month Spread the tidings of diamay, I stood in the Old South, Saying humbly i Mat us pray! "O Lord! we would not advise; But if in thy Providence A tempest should arise To drive the French fleet bence, And scatter it far and wide.

Or sink it in the sea. We should be satisfied, " And thine the glory be." This was the prayer I made. . For my soul was all on flame, And even as I praved The enswering tempest came. It came with a mighty power.

Shaking the windows and wals, And tolling the bell in the tower, As it tolls at fonerals. The lightning suddenly Unslicathed its faming sworth. And I cried : " Stand still, and sco The salvation of the Lord!" The heavens were black with cleed, The sea was white with hall,

Blew the October gale. The fleet is evertook, And the broad sails in the van Like the tents of Cushan shook, Or the curtains of Midian. Down on the rechug decks Crashed the o'crwhelming seas; Ah, never were there wrecks

So pitiful as these !-

And ever more flerce and loud

Like a potter's resel broke The great ships of the line; Or sank like lead in the brine. O Lord! before thy path They vanish and censed to be, When thou didst walk in wrath With thine horses through the sea!

HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

AN ITEM FOR DARWIN A plant has been newly found out in Lukbipur, the leaves of which turn very much to the shape of a grasshopper in proportion as they grow old, till all the parts of the bacci so formed become fully developed; and each leaf forming a separate insect issues out in a very beautiful appearance. This plant is known to grow by itself, and no second plant has yet been seen to grow from it. A gentleman in whose house that plant was found to lege, but of sound head and warm heart When our feelings are fully colleted, Drum fully watched the progress of the insects forming out of the leaves. One day seeing, cortain leaves in form of insects fly out from the plant, he came to a resolution of getting hold of some of them if possible, in order that be might show them to his friends who would not otherwise believe bim. With this. object in view he set about the task in earnest, and in a short time succeeded in producing two or three insects to the atter astonishment of his friends .- Hindoo Pairiot.
